PRIESTS SPURN CZECH ORDERS TO QUIT BERAN

Read Defiant Resolutions Of Loyalty at Morning Masses On Sunday

PRAGUE, Czechoslovakia, July 18.—(AP)—Czechoslovakia's Roman Catholic priests have spurned orders from the Communist government to desert Archbishop Josef Beran and the Vatican in the church-state war.

At morning masses throughout the country yesterday, they read a defiant resolution declaring their continuing loyalty to church authorities and willingness to "bear with them whatever consequences they may face."

Rallying to the support of the embattled hierarchy, the priests accused the government of violating constitutional guarantees of religious freedom, condemned the government-sponsored Catholic action as schismatic, and asserted that clerics' signatures endorsing it had been obtained by fraud.

Priests who read the resolution in Catholic churches said it represented the views of a big majority of the clergy.

The declaration was made as tension mounted over the government's campaign to control the church. On Friday, Justice Minister Alexei Cepicka called Archbishop Beran a traitor. Cepicka disclosed a law was being drafted to require government approval of all appointments to church posts and to take over church property.

Cepicka, Catholic-born son-in-law of President Klement Gottwald, had denounced the Vatican as "the greatest enemy of our state." He said priests who carry out the Vatican decree excommunicating all Catholics supporting Communism would be tried for treason.

MAY ENTER APPEAL FOR MOUNDS CLUB

COLUMBUS, July 18.—(AP)—Action of the state fire marshal in closing the Mounds club in Lake county may be appealed in Franklin county common pleas court today.

The club was raided for the second time Friday night by Ohio's liquor enforcement Chief Anthony A. Rutkowski, three high-ranking state officials and liquor inspectors.

They failed to discover liquor or gambling operations, but State Fire Marshal Harry J. Callan closed the place. He said the club was in violation of the state building and fire codes.

Richard J. Moriarty, Sr., the club's attorney, called the violations cited in the raid as "petty," and said he would appeal the closing order in the Franklin county court. "It was just an excuse to close the club," he said.

Rutkowski said he was convinced the club had advanced information of the Friday night raid. In the first raid a week earlier Rutkowski charged his entrance was blocked by three heavily-guarded doors.

TIMKEN EMPLOYEES AGREE ON TERMS, RETURN TO WORK

COLUMBUS, July 18.—(AP)—Some 12,000 employees of the Timken Roller Bearing Co. today went back to work in the firm's five Ohio plants. They agreed over the weekend to accept a new one-year contract, thereby averting a strike.

The employees, members of the CIO-United Steelworkers of America, concluded two-week negotiations yesterday. Those at the Canton plant voted on Timken's latest contract offer Saturday, while workers at the firm's plants in Columbus, Zanesville, Wooster and Mount Vernon met yesterday.

The new contract provides for a renewal of the 1948 agreement with two major changes. Nearly 2,600 selected employees in the five plants will get pay raises of between one and twenty-two cents an hour, and the union retains the right to reopen after 90 days negotiations on wages, pensions and an insurance plan.

The vote yesterday in the four plants was unanimous, according to Harry Mayfield, president of the Columbus local. There were seven dissenting votes Saturday in the balloting at Canton.

The union's right to re-open negotiations after a three-month interval will give it time to observe the direction of negotiations between the Steelworkers and Big and Little Steel after President Truman's 60-day peace plan expires.

TOUGH BATTLE ON FARM PLAN ON TUESDAY

Outcome May Influence Elections; Coalition Is Ready To Oppose

WASHINGTON, July 18.—(AP)—What may be the toughest farm battle of many years opens in the house tomorrow. Its outcome may influence political fortunes in next year's congressional elections.

A coalition of Republicans and undetermined number of Democrats is fighting the Truman administration's effort to change the present farm program that grew out of the Roosevelt "New Deal."

Rep. Gore (D-Tenn.), leading the coalition, claimed victory today. Administration forces refused to concede.

The issue is not whether the farmer should have government help in getting a fair price for his products—but how it should be done.

Wants Cheaper Food
The crux of the battle is the plan by Secretary of Agriculture Brannan to get cheaper food for consumers and an assured income for agriculture, through direct subsidy payments to farmers from the federal treasury.

Under the leadership of Chairman Cooley (D-N.C.) and Rep. Pace (D-Ga.) the house agriculture committee—by a party line vote—approved the Page bill permitting a three-crop trial run for the Brannan subsidy plan.

Gore, usually a staunch administration supporter, quickly introduced a substitute bill, calling for continuation of the present program. He assailed the philosophy of the Brannan plan, and immediately got support from the nation's two biggest farm organizations, the American Farm Bureau Federation and the National Grange.

Keener Ship Takes Off Tuesday After Delay On Sunday

Safety consciousness caused Sam F. Keener to postpone his round the world flight Sunday.

As the giant converted B-24 was sitting at the end of the runway at the Akron-Canton airport, Nelson Rokes, pilot, was making the final pre-flight check of instruments and noticed that the oil pressure gauge for two motors on the left wing span was out of service. Two replacements, made at the field, failed to function satisfactorily.

Late in the afternoon Keener ordered the flight postponed. A technician is flying to the airport from Milwaukee and parts are coming from California. They expect to take off on their first leg of the flight sometime Tuesday.

Keener said today, "I have 23 years of flying experience and Rokes has more than 2 million air miles to his credit. We both carry good safety records. I'd rather spend two days here at the airport than spend eternity on the bottom of the North Atlantic."

The Keener plane will make the first of 35 stops at Ganter, Newfoundland. The global trip will take more than four months to complete. Estimated completion date is Nov. 24.

The four-engine plane carries a gas load of 3,717 gallons, cruises at 240 m.p.h. and has accommodations for eight.

Keener and Rokes will be accompanied by Delmar Flickner, engineer, Theodore Roop of Salem, sales director for Salem Engineering Co., W. E. Dennis, sales engineer, and Elwood Broadwater, secretary to Keener.

Steward Arthur Sommers of Salem was eliminated from the flight when he was injured Friday at Vandavia airport, near Dayton, when the plane door slammed on him. He was operated on Friday evening for a ruptured spleen.

Steel Fact-Finder Group Begins Work To Settle Dispute

WASHINGTON, July 18.—(AP)—Three men who are going to be busy the rest of the summer—President Truman's steel fact-finding board—hurried into Washington today for their first meeting.

They came to confer with Presidential Assistant John R. Steelman in the White House and talk about such things as when to start hearings.

With the eyes of all industry and unions upon them, the three members will hear arguments for and against a fourth round of post-war wage raises in the steel industry, and for and against larger pension and insurance plans.

Arthur Goldberg, general counsel of the CIO United Steelworkers of America, has told reporters: "We are ready to proceed. We believe we have sufficient data at our own disposal respecting the financial situations of the various companies to proceed immediately."

Truman appointed the three-man board, headed by Dr. Carroll R. Daugherty, professor of business economics at Northwestern university, to study the steel dispute and make recommendations by Aug. 30. The other two members are David L. Cole of Paterson, N. J., and Samuel I. Rosenman, of New York City, both lawyers.

The union has postponed a strike until Sept. 14 at the President's request.

The President averted the strike without using the national emergency provision of the Taft-Hartley act.

The largest steel companies objected vigorously to the President's plan because the board will have power to make recommendations. They pointed out that Taft-Hartley act boards don't have such power.

But the President insisted on his plan. And U. S. Steel, Bethlehem, and Republic finally yielded Friday and agreed to testify before the board, in order to avoid a strike against them at midnight that night.

Adm. Blandy Says A-Bomb Alone Can't Win Any War

NEW YORK, July 18.—(UP)—Admiral William H. O. Blandy, who directed the Bikini atom bomb tests, said today that atomic bombing alone cannot win a future war.

Adm. Blandy, commander of the Atlantic fleet, spoke at the Lions International convention at Madison Square garden.

He drew the following conclusion: 1. The statement that "there is no defense against the atom bomb" is an exaggeration.

2. The atom bomb will not destroy civilization.

3. The atom bomb is a major deterrent to war; but it will not retain this distinction indefinitely.

4. The atom bomb is an immensely potent engine of destruction; but it is not the absolute weapon of decision.

Poses Question
"What will happen when a potential enemy of the United States, bent upon unlimited expansion, and determined to force the slavery of Communism upon the world, also possesses the bomb and the long-range planes for a world wide delivery service?" Blandy asked.

He said such a nation probably could win, if the United States depended solely on the atomic bomb as its weapon.

Such bombing, he said, can make a valuable contribution toward victory, "but it cannot win that victory alone, against a virile nation battling for a vital issue, possessing great military strength and having easy access into the defenseless neighboring states."

Adm. Blandy said the United States is placing its military reliance, therefore, on a team of fighting forces comprised of the Army, Air Force, and Navy.

Time Is Now
The time to organize a defense against the bomb is now "before we are actually liable to atomic attack," Blandy said. He said new industrial plants should not be located in congested areas and that they should be constructed to offer the greatest resistance to blast and radiation.

"The dangerous fallacy of the quick and easy victory to be won

WOMAN, 81, HURT AS AUTOMOBILES CRASH

Two auto collisions on city streets over the weekend damaged four cars and injured one person slightly, police reported.

Lodge W. Thorne of 735 E. State st. stopped his car at the traffic light at Franklin and Lincoln at 2 p. m. Sunday and was struck from behind by another driven by Samuel Schifren of Detroit.

Mrs. Mary Thorne, 81, was thrown forward and struck her head. She was treated at the Central Clinic.

The trunk lid was bent, along with the rear bumper and dust shield on Thorne's car. The grille and left front fender of Schifren's car were caved in.

Cars driven by Howell E. Williams of 823 Washington st. and William H. Hoskins Jr. of R. D. 4, Salem, collided at the corner of Tenth and N. Ellsworth at 12:15 p. m. Sunday.

Williams started to make a left turn onto Tenth after the traffic light changed and the Hoskins car hit his on the left rear fender, knocking the car 18 feet, police said.

The fender was caved in along with the body of the Williams car. The right front fender and grille of the Hoskins car were caved in.

Three Men and A Situation

The presidential fact-finding commission in the steel industry's dispute with the United Steel Workers has a heavy responsibility—too heavy for the kind of a commission it appears to be.

Its recommendations for settling the strike issues can be accepted or rejected. But if they're rejected by steel management, the recommendations themselves will be added to the issues in dispute. That's why the steel industry preferred a limited board of inquiry under the Taft-Hartley act. Such a board cannot make recommendations; it can only assemble information.

But that would have been bad politics for President Truman, whose political policy calls for snubbing and reviling the Taft-Hartley act. It would have meant a possible injunction to hold off the threatened steel strike and an NLRB vote of all steel workers before they could be called out on strike. So, putting politics first, Mr. Truman appointed his own fact-finding commission with power to recommend a strike settlement.

The three men he named to this extra-legal commission are Samuel I. Rosenman, David L. Cole and Carrol R. Daugherty. All have worked for the new deal before as consultants, experts, mediators, arbitrators and so on. Cole and Daugherty are old hands in the theoretical approach to labor relations in steel. Rosenman is an old hand at the practical approach to political relations.

The steel industry will be astonished if the trio's recommendations don't have more bearing on politics than on the arithmetic of prudent management. That's what it has learned to expect from Washington. That's what the whole country has learned to expect from Washington—politics and more politics. And that's what it has been getting.

Sporting Proposition

The summer silly season has been opened with the Washington Times-Herald's non-kidding proposal for a billion-dollar British lottery in the United States to beat the exchequer's dollar crisis.

The lottery would replace further grants of U. S. government assistance. Perhaps in time there could be French, Dutch, Norwegian, Danish and Swiss lotteries too. Eventually, European aid might be paid for as a sporting proposition out of the eight billion dollars which the Times-Herald says Americans spend on gambling each year.

"Wouldn't it be more fun? inquires the newspaper, "to risk a buck on a million-dollar prize than to have it gouged out of your pocket in Marshall plan taxes?" First prize in the lottery would be a million dollars, second prize would be four chunks of $250,000 a piece, third prize would be 10 chunks of $100,000 and so on. The lottery trap would be attractively baited.

The catch is that all lottery dollars would have to be used in the United States to buy U. S. goods for Britain, thus stabilizing our own market for export. The British wouldn't like that, because their dollar shortage is not mere wherewithal to buy things from the United States but a shortage of wherewithal to keep trade moving in the sterling area; that is, the nations which do business with Britain.

The silly season is now open. Reports of sea monsters and wild men living in trees are expected any minute.

Alexander F. Whitney

The sudden death of Alexander F. Whitney, president of the brotherhood of railroad trainmen, has opened a wide gap in the ranks of labor union executives. Mr. Whitney had been a powerful personality in the brotherhood since 1901. He became its president in 1926, after serving in numerous union positions. His authority was unchallenged, except in occasional brushes with Alvanley Johnston, his powerful counterpart in the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers.

Appraisals of dominant personalities in the aging generation of union executives to which Mrs. Whitney, Mr. Johnson, John L. Lewis, the late Sidney Hillman, and Daniel Tobin belong are difficult. Undoubtedly they have made a tremendous impact. But whether or not they laid down the definitive pattern of labor leadership in the United States remains to be seen. Most of them have gone contrary to the pattern once laid down by Samuel Gompers, once their mentor. And most of them have had to deal with a rising generation of labor leaders with new ideas.

Perhaps it's enough to say that they carried out aggressively the ideas which were characteristic of their generation. Whether or not they will be succeeded by a generation with different ideas, possibly less tinged with the class-conscious labor leadership of Europe's dying civilization, remains to be seen.

The Little Voices

Thanks to Associated Press, a few of the little voices in the great steel controversy were heard at the beginning of the 60-day truce between the industry and the union. Steve Chizmar of Homestead, Pa., for instance said he was glad there would be no strike. Steve didn't want a pay raise. He didn't want a pension particularly, unless he helped to pay for it. He wanted to keep on working.

Steve Chizmar, like most of the rest of us, had been listening to the big voices for a good many days. They kept telling him what he wanted and what he should have. And they told him that if someone wasn't careful, he—Steve Chizmar—would have a chance to sit out a steel strike.

There are hundreds of thousands of Steve Chizmars in the steel industry—men who get caught every so often between the lines in the politico-economic battles waged over the means of their livelihood. They don't have much to say about it themselves—and if they had more to say about it some important faces and necks might be a deep red.

A rather critical astral condition makes it of prime importance that a carefully planned and shrewdly executed program or course of action be studied.

There are signs of conflict and contradiction, in which the sagacity and acumen of efforts be studiously adhered to, with sound logic and diligence against an impulse to plunge or over expand on funds, resources and energies. The judgment is not too dependable, and shortsighted moves may jeopardize, especially in projects of scope and expansion. Well-planned change helps.

For The Birthday

Those whose birthday it is, may find themselves in the midst of conflicting interests, in which prospects of scope and expansion may be jeopardized by snap judgment, wrong ideas, short-sighted decisions and impulsive moves. The critical situation calls for studied plans, well-executed system, attention to present details and long-range values and security. Do not rely over much on personal judgment, although it would be well to accept advice and assistance from higher ups with discretion.

Guarding Your Health

By DR. HERMAN BUNDESON

OF late years so much has been written about the so-called change of life that many women approach this unescapable episode with fear and dread.

As a matter of fact, now, though every woman goes through badly changes at this period, few suffer any disturbing symptoms because of them.

The age at which the change occurs depends on the individual. To most it comes between the ages of 46 and 48 but it may begin before 40 or even be delayed until after the age of 55.

In the vast majority of women, the regular periods taper off gradually and finally disappear entirely after two or three years. In some few women, the periods may stop abruptly.

In Early Stages

Abnormal loss of blood may occur in the early stages of the change of life. Aside from this, the most common symptom is hot flashes, that is, a sudden sensation of heat in the upper part of the body. This may be followed by a great deal of sweating, ending with a feeling of chilliness. These hot flashes may occur at varying intervals during the day and night.

Often there also may be lack of energy, irritability, sleeplessness, numbness and tingling, fear, pain in the joints, dizziness, ringing in the ears, headache and loss of memory.

It has been estimated that while three out of four women experience one or more of these symptoms at the time of the menopause, only few suffer them in any severity. Usually, the more active and energetic the woman, the milder the change will be.

Occasionally, the only symptoms may be tiredness and gain in weight. In such instances it is important that a basal metabolism test be made to determine whether or not there is a deficiency of thyroid secretion.

Psychologically there may be anxiety in many cases. If the symptoms of change are mild, as a rule no particular treatment is usually necessary other than reassurance that there is no reason for fear or worry. The use of a mild sedative or nerve-quieting preparation, such as one of the barbiturates, may be helpful.

In more severe cases, the giving of glanular extracts, known as estrogens, is advisable. These may be given by mouth, although in such cases the dose required is about five times as large as that when the preparations are given in injection into a muscle. Estrogens should not be used in cases where there is irregular bleeding, in women whose family history shows a tendency to cancer, in cases where there are certain types of tumors in the womb, and in those who have had a liver inflammation recently.

Of course, the physicians will decide in each case when the estrogens should be employed and in what dose the preparation should be administered.

ONE SHOT HYPO AIDS TREATMENT FOR CHILDREN

By HOWARD W. BLAKESLEE

Associated Press Science Editor

MONTREAL, Canada, July 18

(AP)—McGill university scientists have given children three kinds of immunity mixed together in a single hypodermic needle.

They are diphtheria, whooping cough and tetanus. This combined shot is given twice. It replaces six needle pricks and extra trips to the doctor required by ordinary vaccinations.

Multiplies Effects

The triple shot multiplied the effectiveness of the diphtheria immunity by about 16 times. The other two were not weakened.

The combination took no more of each kind of vaccine, in fact a little less.

These results offer a welcome relief from a long-held belief that each kind of immunization must be given separately.

The McGill group are Donald S. Fleming, M. D., associate professor of bacteriology and Louis Greenberg, Ph. D., now at the laboratory of Hygiene, Ottawa.

They back their work with a world wide survey of literature showing that both for children and adults various kinds of double or triple immunizations have been effective.

Other combinations are typhoid and diphtheria, tetanus, typhoid and paratyphoid, and all four of these at once. As in the McGill experiments, it sometimes happens that one immunizing substance enhances the good effects of another.

In the offing are many other kinds of immunization. Yellow fever already is established. Flu, cholera and common cold vaccines are used to some extent. Yearly some progress is reported toward a vaccine for infantile paralysis.

The combination of several of these in one needle will save time, probably money and certainly discomfort.

Namesake For Ohio

WASHINGTON, July 18—(AP)—Ohio may yet have a namesake in the nation's capital.

The District of Columbia commissioners have suggested that M street and Canal road in Old Georgetown, near the Potomac river, be renamed "Ohio avenue."

A public hearing on the proposal will be held July 25.

Several Ohio members of congress have said their state should be recognized along with others for which Washington avenues have been named.

Norma Jean Hanna Wed To Lawrence R. Hippley

A large number of relatives and friends witnessed the beautiful wedding of Miss Norma Jean Hanna and Lawrence R. Hippley at 10 a. m. Saturday in St. Paul's Catholic church.

The side altar, where the vows were exchanged, was attractively decorated. Rev. Fr. Richard Gaffney, pastor, performed the double ring service.

Miss Sarah Colman, organist, sang Millard's "Ave Maria" before the nuptials and used "Kullak's" wedding march and "On This Day O Beautiful Mother" for the processional and recessional, respectively.

Attractively Gowned

A pretty picture in a white marquisette gown over taffeta, the bride was escorted to the altar by her father, who gave her in marriage.

The gown's square neck was outlined with a lace trimmed bertha and the long sleeves were pointed at the wrists. A lace trimmed peplum finished a fitted bodice which came to a point in the front and the full skirt ended in a long train. She wore a finger-tip lace trimmed veil, which fell from a halo of pearly orange blossoms. Her bridal bouquet was a combination of white roses, stephanotis and maiden hair fern, tied with white maline and showered with stephanotis and maiden hair fern. She wore a single strand of pearls.

Mrs. Howard Ott of Columbus, sister of the bride, was matron of honor. She wore a lovely costume of pale yellow marquisette over taffeta, styled with a portrait neckline, outlined in a deep lace trimmed bertha, puffed sleeves, fitted bodice and a lace trimmed hoop skirt. Her bouquet of pink gladioli and yellow pompons was tied with vari-colored ribbon and she wore a tiara of the same flowers.

Miss Patricia Kroner, maid of honor, appeared in green marquisette, while the bridesmaids, Misses Gloria Vincent and Ruth Votaw, wore lavender marquisette gowns. All were made identically to Mrs. Ott's.

Miss Kroner carried a bouquet like the matron of honor's and her tiara was of the same flowers. The bridesmaids carried bouquets of yellow gladioli and pink pompons and wore matching tiaras. They also wore single strands of pearls and gold bracelets. The bracelets were the bride's gifts.

Dorothea and William Slanker, twins, niece and nephew of the groom, were flower girl and ring bearer, respectively. Dorothea wore a white organdie formal, carried a colonial bouquet of pin and white flowers, and wore a floral headress. William wore a white suit and carried the rings on a small white satin pillow.

Mahlon Hippley, brother of the groom, was best man. Perry Hilliard of Salem; Charles Stiffler of Leetonia, brother-in-law of the bride, and Oscar Hippley of Cleveland, another brother of the groom, seated the guests. They wore tuxedos. The groom remembered the men in the party with gifts.

Mrs. Hanna chose a green print outfit for her daughter's wedding and wore a corsage of white roses.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. Wesley Hanna of R. D. 4, Lisbon. A graduate of the Salem High school, she is a bookkeeper for the Sponseller Construction Co.

Mr. Hippley, son of Fred Hippley of the Ellsworth rd., is an employee of the National Tank Truck Delivery Inc., Niles.

White candles in the windows and in a pair of seven-branch candelabra, which were on either side of the altar, shed a soft glow on the picturesque scene.

A beautiful floral setting combined palms, bouquets of white gladioli and pots of ivy.

Relatives and friends filled the church for the double ring service at 8 p. m. performed by Rev. E. M. Parks, pastor. While the couple knelt at the altar, a Girls' chorus (Virginia Taylor, Dorothy Miller, Marguerite Cherdron, Mildred Shoff, Theda Miller and Margaret Weaver) sang "Jesus, Like A Shepherd Lead Us."

His Honor Puts It Out And Girls Eat It Up

SAN JOSE, Calif.—Sweettalking Mayor Fred Watson knows how to make a hit with the ladies.

He was talking to about 1,000 of the Native Daughters of the Golden West when he pawed one foot in the dirt and belovied: "You California women are the most beautiful in the entire nation."

The girls just sat there and beamed. And then Watson really warmed up to his subject. He gave them all a wink and said: "I'm delighted, simply delighted to find myself the only male in this room—with the doors closed!"

The ladies liked that, too. Then, still giggling, they finally got down to conference business.

Boyle's Column

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK—(AP) — Once upon a time there was a wealthy man named J. Waddington Gotrocks.

Money ran in his family—but it never ran out.

Waddington lived up to his armpits in four-leaf clovers. He kept a staff of 30 girls who did nothing all day long but clip his bond coupons. And every five years he had to retire them and hire a new crew—they got musclebound.

HE LIVED IN A neighborhood so snooty that people baited their mousetraps with Rembrandt etchings rubbed with 100-year-old cheese. Once somebody asked Waddington how much dough he really had. He hired the National Cash Register company to build him a special machine to count it. The machine got up to ten digits—something like $1,000,000,000—and then it blew a gasket.

"Well, anyway I'm not a pauper," concluded Waddington. Waddington had an odd trait for a rich man. He liked to spend money—with both hands. But the faster he spent it the more it piled up.

He was a real philanthropist. People got so they were shooting their parents so they could come to him and say they were orphans and enjoy his bounty. When the zoo asked him to finance a project to cross-breed an ostrich and a giraffe—they merely wanted to see if the offspring would have feathers—he imported 30 acres of Africa to give them plenty of elbow room.

NATURALLY A MAN like Waddington was surrounded by friends. One time he walked through his 999-room castle and counted 1,998 friends who were staying with him. And they all had ordered breakfast in bed—quail on toast, washed down with French champagne.

"What a lucky man I am to be so well liked," he said.

But then a chorus girl, angry because he had given her an emerald four carats lighter than the Hope diamond, said: "Yeah, Waddington, but do they like you for yourself? Maybe it's your money they're after."

Well, as I say, Waddington was a simple rich man. This thought had never occurred to him. Just for a joke he had four butlers blow a silver bugle call and rounded up all his pals for lunch in the main dining room. It was so big that the waitresses had to use roller skates.

When they were all gathered around, Waddington said: "What do you know, fellows? My last check just bounced!"

Panic broke out. In exactly 27 minutes every guest had packed his bag and left. Most of them went to the Grand Central station. A rumor had spread that an innocent Texas oil millionaire was arriving in town.

Only two of his chums even bothered to tell Waddington goodbye. They couldn't help it. They bumped into him on the way out.

Waddington walked through his castle, room after empty room. It was completely deserted. He picked up a telephone and called the zoo.

"I'm donating you another $10,000,000," he said. "In return will you do me a small favor?"

"Why certainly—what is it, Mr. Gotrocks?" replied the zoo director.

"Fix me up a small room near the gorilla cage," said Waddington. "I feel a little lonely."

Moral: Rich men are never satisfied with being admired for their penmanship.

WILL VOTE ATLANTIC PACT NEXT THURSDAY

WASHINGTON, July 18—(AP)—The senate agreed today to vote at 4 p. m. next Thursday on the North Atlantic Security treaty.

Senator Lucas of Illinois, the Democratic leader, obtained the agreement. Senator Donnell (R-Mo.), representing opponents, objected when Lucas sought an earlier vote.

Senate leaders are confident the treaty will be approved. Their problem has been to get the debate shut off and take a ballot.

Democratic leaders looked with flat disapproval on a Republican plan to extend the Monroe Doctrine to Western Europe as a substitute for the pact.

NO ENFORCEMENT. VATICAN REPLIES

VATICAN CITY, July 18—(AP)—Excommunication needs no enforcement.

That was the answer today of a Vatican source to a Czechoslovak threat to prosecute those who carry out the papal order against Communists, denying them the sacraments of the church.

"Excommunication has no need of a material executor who could be traced and punished," the informant asserted. "Excommunication acts upon the guilty in the secret of the conscience and it is irremediably automatic whenever a person is guilty in the sense contemplated by the decree of the holy office."

"Every Catholic, who is really one," the source continued, "could not refrain from feeling the gravity of the excommunication as a moral fact precluding every way of salvation and tainting with an indelible guilt whoever does not return to the truth of the Catholic church."

Report Net Earnings

SIDNEY, July 18—The Monarch Machine Tool Co. today reported net earnings for the second quarter of $162,700, compared with $2,082,289 for the same period last year.

Pope Bans All Reds From Catholic Church

VATICAN CITY, July 18—(AP)—Pope Pius XII has ordered major excommunication of all militant Communists who also are Catholics. The sweeping decree would deny them the sacraments and comforts of the church. The momentous order applies to all members of the Roman Catholic faith "who make profession of the materialistic and anti-Christian doctrine of the Communists."

It was announced in an historic decree of the sacred congregation of the holy office and approved by the Pontiff.

The decree marks the fourth time the Pope has used excommunication to fight back at the Communists in recent years.

Previous decrees had been directed at those who tried and sentenced Archbishop Alojzije Stepinac in Yugoslavia in 1946, at those responsible for the imprisonment of Hungary's Josef Cardinal Mindszenty, and at the founders and willing members of a separatist, government-controlled Catholic Action society in Czechoslovakia.

Informed Vatican sources interpreted the decree's wording to be in effect a last warning to Catholics who still defend or follow Communism. It applies the church's major weapon of discipline to members who might be wavering under Red pressure.

According to a recent unofficial estimate there are some 330,000,000 Catholics in the world.

Troubles of Firing Old Furnaces Led to Many New Aids In Kitchen

THE MANY new features of the contemporary home which make for greater comfort, including indirect lighting, efficient ventilation, automatic kitchen ranges and space-saving room planning, are on the same "family tree" as the old hand-fired basement furnace. It was the drudgery of tending the ancient heating unit, says the National Association of Home Builders, which led to the current trend toward better home planning and labor saving devices.

The home built twenty years ago was primarily a structure consisting of walls, floor and roof, points out Carl G. Lans, N.A.H.B. technical director, while today's new home incorporates many additional features which are desirable and necessary for day to day living.

"Home builders are constantly exploring the desires of the buying public," said Mr. Lans. "As a result the new home on the market today is designed with an eye to more gracious living. This trend has brought about a completely altered viewpoint for many parts of the home building industry including manufacturers, distributors and lending institutions."

"SUCH ITEMS AS refrigerators, laundry equipment, automatic water heaters, air conditioning, kitchen ranges, cabinets and proper lighting facilities were once looked upon as 'extras' and not as part of the original real property. Yet, it would not be possible for a family to live for a day without many of these items."

"In a sense this transition had its origin in the old hand-fired coal furnace. As new equipment was introduced to ease the furnace-tending chore, there was an awakening of the need for improved equipment in other parts of the house. With the development of the completely controlled heating unit came other new devices. Compact, efficient installations for domestic hot water were next. Then air-conditioning, improved lighting methods, modern laundries and save-work kitchens came into being."

"EQUIPMENT AND appliances have not been the sole answer to greater livability. Better planning and design are also responsible. Rising land and material costs in the wake of the war brought emphasis on conservation of space within the home. This has resulted in lower relative costs and in many cases, greater convenience. The combination living and dining space is one manifestation of this trend. Better organization of rooms to eliminate unnecessary hall space is another point."

"All of these factors make for more enjoyment of the home. Yet there is another important by-product. What the inclusion of these new features actually amounts to, is that the home buyer is able to include their cost in the total mortgage. Thus, he is enabled to purchase many necessities for his home without the additional outlay of money at a time when it would strain the family purse most. The down payment for the house covers everything. In effect the down payment goes to defray the cost of equipment items. The remainder of the home is obtained with practically no immediate payment."

CHIMNEY NEEDS RIGHT PLANNING TO DRAW RIGHT

Structural Design Can Determine How Flues Will Function

If the home owner desires to enjoy all the indoor comfort his heating system can provide, he will want to pay more than passing attention to the chimney in his house. This is the conclusion of the National Warm Air Heating and Air Conditioning Association which reports every winter the following problems make up the majority of home owner inquiries received at the Association's Warm Air Research Residence at the University of Illinois:

The furnace does not draw and the house is slow to respond to heat demands.

The home owner is convinced poisonous gases are being released into the structure.

Moisture condenses in the chimney and damages the walls next to the chimney.

Fires have started from poor chimney construction.

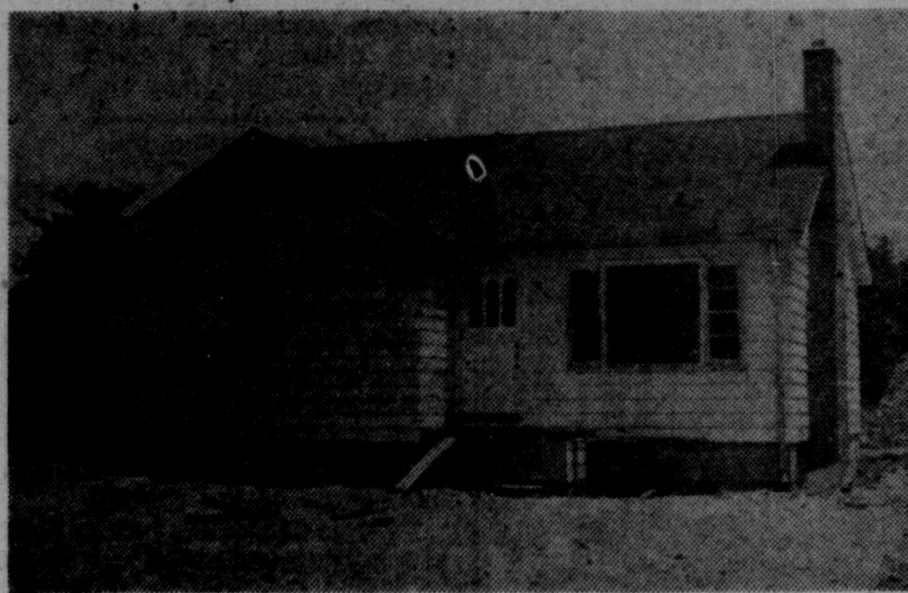

Structure Is Important

The best in home heating equipment will perform only in ratio to the effective structural design and capacity of the chimney or vent pipe is first and foremost to which it is connected. It is to be remembered a chimney or vent pipe is first and foremost a venting device that carries the products of combustion to the outdoors and nothing, either structural or decorative, should be incorporated in the chimney design which will prevent it from effectively and adequately serving this function.

With automatic fuel-burning equipment and with forced circulation types of heating plants, the chimney can be located anywhere in the house. None the less, experience has demonstrated that the preferred position is an inside chimney.

The top of the chimney should extend at least 2½ feet above the ridge of the roof. It should contain a lined flue of a large cross section area and the flue should be straight up through the entire

VARIED WOODS IN ROLLER HOME

The Roy Roller home at 434 S. Madison ave. is nearing completion with only some inside work and landscaping unfinished. It has four rooms and bath in a one floor plan and is 26 ft. deep by 32 ft. wide.

Concrete blocks were used for the base and the basement has parging and waterproofing. A full basement is under the house and the space under the front entrance-way has been excavated and lined with blocks for an additional storage room. All plumbing is copper tubing and the home is heated by gas. Casement-type windows were selected for the basement.

Smooth cream-tinted plaster is being used for the home interior. All trim is poplar with flush birch doors. Hardwood flooring was laid for both bedrooms while linoleum is to be placed in the kitchen and bath and carpet in the living room. Cove base linoleum has been selected for the bath to eliminate hard-to-mop corners.

Knotty pine woodwork with the natural finish was used for cupboards in the kitchen. Heavy linoleum has been placed on counter working surfaces and the wall behind the counters for easier cleaning.

A four by eight ft. picture frame window has been installed height of the chimney with no offset restricting the release of products of combustion.

Outside Chimneys Poor

Objection to an outside chimney that is exposed to the weather on one or more sides is that such a chimney will cool off when the burner stops or when the coal fire is low. Then when the burner starts again or coal is added to the fire, the products of combustion have to force their way out of a chimney filled with dense, cold gases. Frequently, a back draft may result. This is often the reason why home owners complain about oil fumes, suspected carbon monoxide, or smoke backing into the house.

On inside chimney will not cool down quite as much during the off periods of the oil or gas burner or when the coal fire is low. Hence, it is less subject to these troubles. The heat which does escape from an inside chimney to the house is regained as useful heat, thus helping to reduce the fuel bill.

When gas fuel is burned, large quantities of water vapor are formed. This vapor will condense on the inside of the chimney if the inner surfaces of the chimney are cold. In a poorly constructed chimney this moisture, slightly acid in nature, will begin a corrosive action that can eventually appear on the interior walls next to the chimney as wet spots or discoloration of the plaster.

Modern Plants Up Brick Output

Modernization of brick and tile plants to provide for efficient and economical production is going forward rapidly in all parts of the country, W. J. Goodwin, Jr., president of the Structural Clay Products Institute, declared.

"Clay products manufacturers are making large capital investments in modern, efficient brick-making equipment and plants," said Mr. Goodwin. "These new installations will provide more and better clay products through the use of tunnel kilns, which reduce production time, and through assembly methods."

"In the midwest, forward-looking producers such as Metropolitan Brick Co., Inc. of Canton, Claycraft Corp. of Columbus, Summitville Face Brick Co. of Summitville, Purington Brick & Tile Co. of Galesburg, Ill., and Alton Brick Co. of St. Louis have installed or are installing new manufacturing systems."

"Many other producers of brick and structural clay tile are in the process of remodeling, renovating or replacing present production, so as to turn out more and better clay products to meet heavy current demands."

Use New Labor-Savers to Lessen Summer Upkeep In Your House

What American spit-and-polish enthusiasts will cheer this spring are quicker and better labor-saving devices and the longer-lasting results which many aids promise.

A unique water-powered scrubbing brush, for example, whisks dirt or oily soot stains from windows, screens, painted or clapboard exterior walls or porches with no more effort than it takes to gulpe bristles over the surface.

This brush, which may be equipped with a three-foot aluminum extension for high-reaching, is attached to the nozzle of a garden hose. Water pressure rotates an inner circle of bristles at a furious pace and stationary outer row of bristles prevents splashbacks.

Promising quicker cleanups along the rug routes are new vacuum cleaners, both upright and tank-type models, which are equipped with disposable paper bags instead of conventional cloth bags or paper filters. When filled with dirt, bags may be slipped off vacuum and tossed away without soiling hands or rugs.

Simplifying work for the amateur painter is a new liquid masking tape. When brushed over surfaces such as glass window panes, the liquid tape protects these from splatters of paint applied to narrow frames. The vinyl resin-based solution dries in 10 seconds and peels off like adhesive tape when painting is finished.

Worth noting, too, by the amateur touch-up artist, is a new synthetic luster finish for use on wood or metal, indoors or outdoors. One coat covers most surfaces without need for prime or undercoat. The resulting finish boasts the gleam and easy washability of baked-on enamel.

Longer-lasting effects from a home clean-up campaign are promised by a clear plastic protective finish which can be sprayed on everything from freshly polished garden tools and lawn furniture to decorative accessories and newly-enamelled woodwork. Packaged in a can with a spray-top for easy application, the plastic coat will, according to manufacturers' claims, make surfaces resistant to tarnish, water, oil, grease and alkalis.

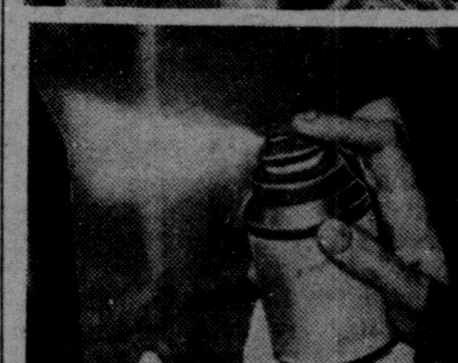

Sand or Cinders Are The Best to Get Level

It takes clay five years to settle solid. Thus when you are laying drain lines, tile or walks on turned over, loosened clay, set the levels you want with slag, sand, cinders or other coarse material that you can pack firmly while the job is being done. Then your level will stay put. If you rely on clay, in the course of time it can settle substantially and very likely will drop your level out of line. Tamping clay may pack it if the clay is dry and powdery, but it won't tamp tight if it is lumpy.

cool weather is to their liking, and they produce their best flowers.

Giant zinnias are still most popular; with the super-giant strain leading because of the pastel colors of its blossoms. It is only obtainable in a mixture, but all the colors are harmonious, and they are lovely both as cut flowers and in the border. The small, bushy plants of the lilliput and pumila zinnias are growing rapidly in favor. There are pink, red, orange, yellow and lavender varieties.

Marigolds may be obtained in sizes varying from the tiny single flowers, half an inch in diameter, which cover the dwarf bushy plants of the variety gnomes, to the huge six-inch globular flowers of the Sunset Giants variety.

Fine spray of clear plastic evenly coats surfaces of garden tools to make metal more resistant to corrosion.

Liquid masking tape brushed on window panes (top) protects glass from paint splatters. When painting is finished, tape peels off easily (bottom).

Inner circle of bristles on this new scrubbing brush is rotated by pressure of water flowing through garden hose to which the device is attached.

DRAINAGE NEEDED
A six-inch gravel or cinder fill in sandy soil, 12 inches in clay, provides necessary drainage beneath walk and driveway to prevent cracking of concrete by freezing.

Galvanized steel sprinkling cans are especially convenient for the small-scale gardener because they may be used for spraying insecticides as well as water.

ANNUAL FLOWERS IN BLOOM QUICKLY FROM LATE SOWING

It is not too late to sow flower seeds in the garden in early summer. By choosing varieties which germinate quickly and grow fast, flowers may be had almost as soon as from seeds sown much earlier, which may have been delayed by cold weather.

For best results seeds should be sown where the plants are to grow, so they will suffer no setback from transplanting. Since hot, dry days may soon arrive, special precautions should be taken to prevent crusting of soil, and drying out.

Loosen the soil to a depth of six inches, spading under 2 to 4 pounds of plant food for each 100 square feet. Mix small seeds with dry sand to help scatter them well. Large seeds of plants which need plenty of room may be sown two or three seeds in each spot where a plant is wanted, to be thinned out later to a single plant.

Cover the seeds lightly with porous soil containing no clay. A special covering soil may be prepared by mixing fine top soil or peat with an equal amount of sand or vermiculite. Keep the soil moist by sprinkling with a fine spray until the seeds germinate and the plants begin to grow well.

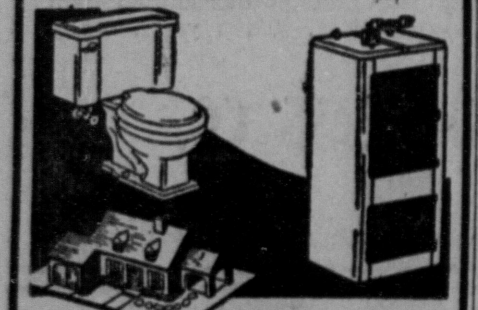

Annual flowers which germinate within five to ten days after sowing include the following: Sweet alyssum, amaranthus, astar, calendula, colliopsis, candytuft, celosia, centaurea, cheiranthus, cosmos, dianthus, California poppy, Godetia, Linaria, lobelia, lupinus, marigolds, nicotiana (flowering tobacco), annual phlox, portulaca, mignonette, schizanthus, viola, zinnia, nasturtium.

The fastest growing annual is leptosyne Stillmanii, producing yellow daisies, which flowers in five weeks from the time seed is sown. In two more weeks zinnias will begin to bloom. The slowest growers of the quick germinating group are asters and calendula; but these will begin to flower in late August, and continue through the fall, when

HOT SPELL PROVES INSULATION NEED

Serves as Protection Against Both Heat And Cold

Insulation of a house is a double-barreled program. It insulates you and your family against cold in the winter and heat in the summer.

Insulation against cold means saving in coal, gas and oil bills—savings in dollars and in doctors' bills.

Insulation against heat—the other half of the story—means what? Answer it yourself. We've had a spell of roasting. If your house was insulated, air conditioned or equipped with fans, perhaps you stood the heat very well.

But if your house was not insulated or otherwise equipped to keep out or drive out the day's accumulation of sun, you were on the paying end of the hot spell.

Attic Is Oven

Start thinking about insulation. Take the roof and the attic just under it—a natural oven that absorbs and holds the day's heat and then gives it off to downstairs quarters when you are trying to sleep. How much attic heat can you kill by laying in battens of insulation up against the roof between the rafters? How much more can you dispose of by putting battens under the attic floor and just above the bedroom ceiling? The material is not expensive, there are several types of it and it can be put in by almost anyone. It should prove a great boon in standing the next heat wave.

Comparable insulation can go into the walls with similar results. But insulating walls already built and plastered inside is a different problem from an empty attic. It calls for trained operatives and special machinery. It calls for careful filling of the spaces between studs so that material does not settle. When the job is done properly the insulating material does not settle but stays in place, making millions of tiny pockets of dead air that together achieve the checking of heat movement through the wall.

Be Sure Plaster is Dry

Before applying oil paint to the plaster surfaces of a new house, be sure that the plaster is dry. This may take 30 days or longer. To aid drying, heat can be turned on and windows opened slightly at top and bottom.

THE CECIL has a three-bedroom plan arranged to make a number of useful combinations. A door from the vestibule to the front bedroom enables this room to be used as a rented room, a den or an office. Similarly, a door from the kitchen to the center bedroom would turn it into a nursery or workroom.

There is a large dining area in the kitchen; also efficiently insulating material does not settle but stays in place, making millions of tiny pockets of dead air that together achieve the checking of heat movement through the wall.

mostly off the floor. When the woman of the house gets to dusting, she stirs up dust. Some of it settles to the floor and the cleaner gets it later, but a good portion of it sails around and eventually is sucked down the return lines to be caught on the filters. How in the world does lint fly around? Well you answer that one; it certainly does anyway, the fine fibers coming from rugs, mattresses, clothing, upholstery, finally assembling into a gossamer state, and it then begins to collect dust.

All of which suggests you take a look at your filters.

AMERICANS BECOME EXPERTS IN COLOR

Americans' flare and fancy for decorating their homes, redesigning old rooms into bright, fresh, new ones, changing old styles for new, capitalizing on new techniques and new materials because they like to do these things and like their accomplishments, have led the paint industry to vast research in providing paints that the home owner with his limited experience can use with expert effect.

In the past eight years there has been a wide development in this activity. Water-mix paints "caught on" in 1941. In 1948 millions of gallons of water-mix paints were sold for interior home decoration, and almost all of it for use by the home owners themselves. These paints are easy to apply, are quick drying, and have a washability that appeals to the housewife for that quality alone, not to mention the others.

The paint industry has equipped this tidal interest in home decorating with voluminous instructional literature. Color cards were old style public information about paint. But today, whole catalogues of rooms in color—aye, colors—show what can be done with deft matchings and contrasts to give rooms all manner of pleasing features. They have actually full sized models constructed for demonstrating the effectiveness of paints, like the ranch type kitchen in the picture by the Glidden Co., to show the possibilities of color.

Architects draft the plans shown in this educational material. Home experts pass upon them. Designers prescribe colors. Color research experts recommend types of paint for the particular use. Finally, the home owners have at their disposal and for their guidance a gallery of designs in color that resolve their perplexities as to just what to use.

The French people were once thought to be the leading experts in color and design. Thanks to developments by the paint industry in this country, the American people today share the honors and pleasure for distinctive artistic achievements.

RENT INSPECTORS GIVE INFORMATION

Area Rent Director William H. Blackford wonders how many landlords are letting a 1942 notion of rent control keep them from bringing their legal rents up to date. Blackford says that many owners of rental property must have the impression that rents are rigidly frozen, when the truth is that many landlords are either eligible or can qualify for rent increases under existing provisions.

Since rent control began in November, 1942, 10,000 landlords have received rent adjustments. The rent increases have affected seven per cent of the controlled dwellings. The average increase was $5.00 per unit although recent first-time increases have averaged higher.

"The maximum rents are intended to reflect changing costs of operation as well as improvements in the rental property itself," Blackford stated. "These increases have been warranted because operating costs have risen or the landlords have made improvements in the rental units. Now our adjustment policies are more flexible, to bring rents more in line with local conditions." He also pointed out that tenants are protected against unwarranted rent increases through the notification requirement and their rights of appeal.

The area rent director said that most landlords will qualify for rent boosts under these four grounds:

1. Improving the dwelling unit,

2. Increasing the services, furniture, furnishings or space. This also covers the higher costs of services normally provided.

3. The number of occupants has increased and the landlord is entitled to more rent.

4. The rent was set below the rental average generally prevailing for similar accommodations in the area.

Some landlords may qualify for a rent increase on more than one ground, Mr. Blackford explained. He cited an example of a landlord who visited his office to complain that one of his rental units was bringing less than other dwellings in its class. In the course of his visit, it developed that he had recently rented the place to a larger family and his expense had gone up in the past few years.

On the basis of these facts the area rent office helped the landlord make application for a rent increase amounting to $53.00 a month, compared to his previous $45.00 maximum. The increase was not granted, however, until the tenant was notified.

"This shows what we can do when we have a chance to sit down with a landlord and look at his case individually," Blackford commented. "But we can do nothing unless the landlord, himself, takes the first step of coming in to talk to a landlord-tenant consultant."

Blackford also said any landlord planning improvements to his rental property can learn in advance what the increase will be. He invited landlords to call at the rent office.

Elmer Robinson, rent inspector, will be at the Salem post office from 9 a. m. to 4 p. m. Thursday to assist landlords and tenants with rent problems. He will also inform landlords and tenants of the provisions of the Rent Act as amended April 1, 1949.

Tribe Still Can't Dent That 5½ Game Deficit

Meet Boston Again Tonight After Splitting Twin Bill Sunday; Stephens Is Hero

CLEVELAND, July 18 — (AP) — The Cleveland Indians are seemingly unable to dent the 5½ game hold the New York Yankees have on first place, but there's a consolation—the Yanks can't seem to increase the lead.

While the Tribe split a doubleheader with the Boston Red Sox yesterday, the Yanks did the same against the Chicago White Sox. And when the Tribe Friday dropped a game of their series with the Philadelphia Athletics, the Yanks obligingly stumbled before the St. Louis Browns on Saturday.

Tonight the Tribe faces Boston again behind Mike (The Bear) Garcia. Veteran Joe Dobson will hurl for the Bosox.

Vernon Stephens, Boston fence buster, and 20-year-old Chuck Stobbs collaborated in perfect harmony yesterday as Boston followed a 4-2 Cleveland victory in the opener with a 2-1 win before 73,599 fans.

Stephens was bad boy against the Indians all day, with his ninth-inning homer in the night cap breaking a 1-1 tie for the game.

In the sixth inning, he smashed a single to left field to score Johnny Pesky with the tying run. The Indians had taken the lead in the first when they scored their only run on Dale Mitchell's twelfth triple of the year and a single by Ray Boone.

Stobbs allowed only four hits and fanned nine to gain his fourth win of the season. After the first, he gave up only two safeties.

Early Wynn and Mickey Vernon were the heroes for the Tribe in the opener.

With the score 2-2 in the eighth, Wynn belted a home run over the right field fence. In the pitching department, he gave up only six hits and stopped the Bosox twice with the bases loaded.

STEPHENS IS KEY IN BOSTON POWER; YANKEES DIVIDE

Slugging Shortstop Is Man Who Won for Bosox in Second Game Sunday

By JOE REICHLER, Associated Press Sports Writer
If Joe McCarthy's Boston Red Sox fail to overtake the New York Yankees in the American league pennant struggle, it will not be the fault of Vern (Junior) Stephens.

The stocky little McAllister, N. M., shortstop is enjoying his best year at the plate. Barring injury or a sudden slump, the Slug should lead his circuit in the two power departments—home runs and runs batted in.

Stephens currently is packing the field in both with 23 four baggers and 93 runs batted in. He is closest pursuer is Teammate Fred Williams, who has 21 homers and 89 RBIs.

Vern lashed out two homers and drove in all Boston's runs as the Red Sox divided a doubleheader with the Indians in Cleveland yesterday before a crowd of 73,599.

With First Baseman Mickey Vernon knocking in three runs with a double and single, the Tribe won the opener, 4-2. Stephens batted in both Boston runs with a home run and a single in three official times at bat.

The Bosox came back to win the nightcap, 2-1, as young Chu Stobbs outpitched veteran Al Benton. Again Stephens fanned both Boston batters. He singled to score Johnny Pesky with the tying run in the sixth inning, and won the game in the ninth with his 23rd homer.

The split prevented the two clubs from making any gain on the pace-setting Yankees, but the Red Sox were able to vault past Philadelphia into third place. The Athletics dropped to fourth place, losing a doubleheader to the Tigers in Detroit, 8-0 and 5-4.

The Yankees split a twin bill with the White Sox in Chicago. Joe DiMaggio's sixth home run in the seventh inning gave the Yankees the opener, 2-1, and Vic Raschi his 14th triumph against only two losses. The White Sox pounded Fred Sanford and Frank Shea for 14 hits to earn a 7-3 triumph in the nightcap.

Paul Campbell, little used first baseman, shared the hero's role with Southpaw Ted Gray as the Tigers mowed down the A's twice to climb within a game and a half of the Mackmen.

Campbell slammed a home run with the bases full and added two singles as Gray blanked the A's, 8-0, in the opener on three hits. The Tiger first baseman then won the second game with an 11th inning single that drove in the winning run in Detroit's second game 5-4 triumph.

The St. Louis Browns swept their first doubleheader of the season, taking two from the Washington Senators, 15-8 and 7-4. Rookie outfielder Roy Sievers sparked the Brownie attack with five hits in seven times at bat.

Brooklyn retained its game and a half lead over runner-up St. Louis, edging out the Chicago Cubs, 4-3, while the Cardinals were beating the Giants in New York, 10-1. The third place Boston Braves lost ground, splitting a twin bill with the Cincinnati Reds, while Pittsburgh nosed out fourth place Philadelphia, 2-1. The Braves won the opener, 5-4, but the Reds came back to win the nightcap, 3-2.

Luis Olmo, recently reinstated Mexican league jumper, broke up the Cub-Dodger battle with a ninth inning homer, his first of the season.

Red Munger had an easy time winning his seventh game as his Cardinal teammates Red Schoendienst and Eddie Karak blasted home runs. The Cards collected 13 hits.

Cliff Chambers bested Russ Meyer in a hurling duel as the Pirates gained a five-inning triumph over the Phils. Rain washed out the rest of the contest as well as the scheduled second game. Rain also cut the scheduled twin bills in Brooklyn and New York in half.

Eddie Sauer's ninth inning single with two out scored Eddie Stanky with the run that gave Boston its first game triumph over the Reds. Kent Peterson outpitched Johnny Antonelli in the nightcap.

Schroeder Must Beal Gonzales

By JERRY LISKA

CHICAGO, July 18—(AP)—It's up to Ted Schroeder to give young Pancho Gonzales his come-uppance on the national tennis scene.

Gonzales yesterday captured his second straight national clay court title to go with the National championship he won at Forest Hills last year in Schroeder's absence.

Schroeder was not on hand for the week-long clay court meet at River Forest tennis club which ended with Gonzales' four-set victory over Frankie Parker, 6-1, 3-6, 8-6, 6-3.

The feminine clay court champion also repeated as Magda Rurac of Los Angeles wilted down Beverly Baker of Santa Monica, Cal., 2-6, 9-7, 6-3.

Miss Baker, 19, blew match point twice leading the second set 7-6, and Mrs. Rurac, former Romanian champion, quickly turned the tide.

In the only doubles competition, top-seeded Vic Seixas of Philadelphia and Sam Match of Los Angeles won the men's title, outlasting Gonzales and Hugh Stewart of Pasadena, Calif., 6-4, 1-6, 5-7, 8-6, 9-7.

Eddie Waitkus Due Back With Phillies

PHILADELPHIA, July 18 — (AP)—Eddie Waitkus says he expects to be back in uniform with the Philadelphia Phillies before the season ends.

The star first baseman arrived here yesterday from Chicago where he has been undergoing treatment since being shot by a crazed girl fan on June 15. A crowd of 500 greeted him at International airport.

Stephens from the plane that carried him from Chicago, Waitkus announced he was "raring to go."

He informed the crowd that Dr. William Adams, in Chicago, said he "will be able to play ball again sometime before the season ends."

Waitkus said he expected to spend the next several weeks here under supervision of Dr. Julian Johnson at the University of Pennsylvania hospital and then visit his family at Melrose, near Boston.

An "Eddie Waitkus Night" is being planned at Shibe park Aug. 19 when the Phils meet the New York Giants.

Admission fees were first charged in 1922 for the U. S. Open and 15¢ paid to see Gene Sarazen's first victory.

LINKS SPOTLIGHT TURNS TO TOLEDO INVITATIONAL GO

"Sweet Sixteen" Entered: Bennie Hogan's Absence Leaves It Wide Open

By FRITZ HOWELL

COLUMBUS, July 18—(AP)—Now that Ohio has crowned its amateur champions, the state's golfing spotlight swings this week to one of the nation's finest fixtures—the 12th Inverness Invitational fourball matches.

Sixteen of the country's finest will battle it out Thursday through Sunday for $15,000 in prizes, with the top spot paying off $4,000.

New champions are assured in the birdie battle, for Bantam Ben Hogan will not be on hand. The tiny Texan, who teamed with Jimmy Demaret of Ojai, Calif., the last three years to take the title, is out of competitive golf because of an automobile accident several months ago.

With Hogan on the sidelines, Demaret has taken as his partner the first amateur ever to appear in the big classic—Toledo's Frank Stranahan.

The fight for the top spot is wide open, with Hogan out of play. He and Demaret won in 1941-46-47-48, four of the last five, a string so convincing the other entrants started calling the tournament a Hogan-Demaret "benefit."

Bobby Locke, recent winner of the British open, was among the original "sweet 16," but decided to pass up the event in favor of a series of exhibitions. His place, as partner of Dapper Dick Metz, went to Sammy Snead, Masters and PGA champion—and there may be the new winners.

Other pairings are Freddie Haas and Dave Douglas; Cary Middlecoff, National Open champion, and Jim Ferrier; E. J. (Dutch) Harrison and Jim Turney; Bob Hamilton and Chick Harbert; Lloyd Mangrum and Johnny Palmer; and Clayton Heafner and Skip Alexander.

Each pair will meet the other two times in a full 18 hole match of best-ball play. Teams are given a "plus" of the number of holes they finish "up" on an opponent, and the loser gets a corresponding "minus." Scores are carried over from match to match and at the finish the team with the greatest "plus" gets the $4,000.

One round is scheduled Thursday, following a golf clinic and driving contest, in which the long-ball hitters get $400. The team with the greatest number of birdies for the route gets an added $300, as does the pair with the lowest single-round score.

Double rounds are slated Friday, Saturday and Sunday.

The state wound up its amateur championships over the week end.

At Mansfield the men's Simon-pure title went to 18-year-old Richard E. Evans, of Shaker Heights, a six-foot four-inch University of Michigan Sophomore. The tall kid turned in a 4 and 3 victory in the 36-hole finals over 25-year-old Vince Leikosky, Youngstown public linker, the second fee course entry in three years to reach the title match.

The women's championship went to Findlay's 27-year-old Peggy Kirk for the third straight year at Sylvania Country club. She registered a 2 and 1 conquest over Claire Doran, 25-year-old Cleveland Lakewood school teacher.

Rainy Sunday Holds Up Golf Matches; Beattie, Gonda Win Tourney Play

A rainy Sunday cut heavily into the scheduled first round matches in the President's cup tournament at the Salem Golf club, but the weekend tournament was run off Saturday. Don Beattie winning the top flight and John Gonda copping the honors in the B flight.

Matches were to have been played by today, but the rain all day Sunday washed out the heartiest end of the slate, most golfers scheduling their play Sunday.

The weekend tournament was an odd-even-hole, one-half handicap affair. Beattie's 38-40-73-36 gave him a 10-hole total of 48-73-36 to win out over Walt Hartsock, who fired 36-38-72 for a 10-hole total of 39-72-37. Ed Knox, with a 39-35-74, ended up with a tourney score of 41-43-37 to tie Hartsock in the Class A flight.

In the B flight Gonda shot 46-48-91 and finished in the tourney total of 47-93-38. Johnny Hochadel had a good day, too. He totaled 44-48-92 and found himself with a 52-133-39 in the tournament.

In matches in the President's cup event so far, Hartsock has defeated Bud Hone five and four; Gene Sommers won over Don Richardson five and four; E. R. Martin defeated Lester Kille three and one; Glenn Harding bested Walter Hiltbrand three and two and Dr. R. T. Holzbach won over Dick Lawrence. These are top flight matches.

In the second flight Beattie defeated Bob Dixon three and two; W. Ferguson won over Dr. Clarence Hartough five and four; Schaefer defeated Bob Wright one up and R. C. Blair won by default from Dr. J. S. Jones. Harvey Walken also won a match by default.

Weather permitting, there's certain to be a scramble for second and third place, second place is good for $1900 and the next spot calls for $1,400 of the $16,500 prize money.

Two men are tied for third. They're Bob Hamilton, Landover, Md., and Toby Loyons, Warren, Pa. Five men are tied for fourth with 210. They're Dr. Cary Middlecoff of Memphis, Tenn.; Dick Metz, Virginia Beach, Va.; Herman Barron, White Plains, N. Y.; Buck White, Greenwood, Miss., and Otto Greiner, Baltimore.

The feminine crown three straight years. Louise Fordyce of Youngstown did it in 1923-23-24, and Mrs. Burt Weil of Cincinnati in 1934-35-36.

The 48th national amateur golf championship will be held over the Oak Hill Country club, Pittsford, N. Y., Aug. 28 to Sept. 3.

FARM NEWS OF LOCAL INTEREST

Ferrall in Columbus
Dr. W. C. Ferrall of Salem, federal veterinarian, in charge of disease control work in Columbiana and other nearby counties, has been temporarily transferred to the federal office in Columbus to assist with state-wide work for one or two months. It is expected that he will return to Salem at the end of the period. While in his absence, Dr. R. C. Brager of the state veterinarian's office, who is doing Bang testing work in Columbiana county, will take care of Dr. Ferrall's duties. Testing will be continued as time permits. Testing for Bang's disease will also be done by local veterinarians.

Farmers wanting health permits for movement of cattle can contact Dr. Brager at the county extension service office in the basement of the court house in Lisbon.

Use Of Lime

Where land has previously been limed, the farmer gets more per dollar invested in liming materials when spread on meadows that are to be plowed for corn the following year than on any place in the rotation if taking the whole ration into consideration, according to County Agent

Floyd Lower of Lisbon. The results are equally good, the cost of spreading is less, there is less rush and more opportunity to get the limestone spread, less labor is involved and delivery is more certain. Many Columbiana county farmers are now applying limestone in July on sod land, Lower states.

Survey Underway

The apple and peach production and marketing survey being made in Columbiana, Mahoning, Stark, and Carroll counties is progressing satisfactorily according to information from interested orchard men. The survey is being conducted by local growers with the help of the Agricultural Extension service. The Ohio Experiment station will make a market survey beginning in August.

How you
save 10¢ a gallon
... on SOHIO gasoline!

Gasoline Prices

1921 PRICE (NO GASOLINE TAX THEN) 29¢

1949 PRICE (EXCLUDING 5¢ GAS TAXES) 19¢

YOU SAVE (ON SOHIO X-70 GASOLINE) 10¢

IF YOU BOUGHT a gallon of gasoline at a Sohio station in 1921, a few years after World War I ended, you'd have paid 29¢.

Today—about the same length of time after World War II, you pay only 19¢ (plus tax) at Sohio for X-70 gasoline—gasoline that's so vastly different and better that you'd hardly call that 1921 stuff "gasoline" at all. Fact is, your today's car would only sputter on the old-time gasoline.

This means, if you are an average car owner, that you are actually saving $60 a year on Sohio gasoline.

How come this saving?

Because our company, and companies like it, over the years put a large part of our earnings back into the business... finding new sources of oil, perfecting new methods of refining, setting up better methods of distribution to bring you petroleum products at less cost. Profits have thus actually been used to make oil and gasoline more plentiful and lower in price.

Last year this company employed more people at higher wages... paid more taxes than ever. But still the price of gasoline is 10¢ less! Profits today and in the future will bring benefits to America just as in the years past they built America.

Army Investigation Continues: Vaughan Hit

WASHINGTON, July 18—(AP)—An investigation of Army con-tract handling was still underway today. It has led thus far to the suspension of two major generals and a congressman's demand that President Truman send his mili-tary aide to the sidelines.

The inspector general's office has orders from Secretary of the Army Gordon Gray to continue its probe of Maj. Gen. Herman Feldman, the quartermaster gen-eral, and Alden H. Waite, chief of the chemical corps.

Both were relieved of duty Saturday after a senate investi-gating committee produced evi-dence which Gray said indicated they exhibited "a lack of judg-ment and sense of propriety."

On the heels of this develop-ment Rep. Shafer (R-Mich) de-manded the President suspend Maj. Gen. Harry H. Vaughan, White House aide.

A member of the house armed services committee, Shafer said in a statement that Vaughan was "implicated in the same case" with Feldman and Waite. He gave no details but said the aide's conduct "has been, to put it mild-ly, in the poorest taste."

Gives Fair Warning

FARSUND, Norway—For the last ten years it always has been raining when a watchmaker in Farsund had his summer vaca-tion.

This year he took his holiday from July 1 to 21 and therefore warned everybody else who was doing the same. Last year some people in Farsund offered to pay him money if he would take his holiday in February.

Rail Union Head Laid To Rest Today

CLEVELAND, July 18—(AP)—With union officials serving as pallbearers, A. F. Whitney, pres-ident of the Brotherhood of Rail-road Trainmen, will be laid to his final rest today.

The family of the 76-year-old labor leader who died Saturday said hundreds of sympathy mes-sages had been received. One from Vice President Alben W. Barkley, said in part:

He will "be remembered not only as a courageous labor lead-er, but as a great American."

Maj. James P. Holmes of the Federal Mediation and Concilia-tion service wired "the country and all of us who knew and loved him have suffered an irreparable loss."

Seven officials of the brother-hood which Whitney had headed for 21 years were selected as ac-tive pallbearers.

The list of honorary pallbear-ers included Barkley, John R. Steelman, assistant to President Truman; Secretary of Labor Maurice J. Tobin, Robert R. Young, board chairman of the Chesapeake & Ohio Railroad; CIO President Philip Murray, AFL President William Green and other nationally-known fig-ures.

Whitney succumbed to a heart attack at his home in nearby Bay Village. His successor will be named by top officials in the union within 10 days.

The funeral services were to be held in the Lakewood Methodist church here. He will be buried in Lakewood cemetery.

STEEL CONFUSED, OPERATORS CLAIM

PITTSBURGH, July 18—(AP)—The steel business is in "a state of confusion" as a result of Pres-ident Truman's appointment of a government fact-finding board in the current labor-management dispute, a veteran steelmaster said today.

E. T. Weir, chairman of the National Steel Corp., told a press conference it was a mistake to permit the dispute to go to a board having the power to make recommendations. The board should be confined to fact-finding only, he stated.

Steel production this year may drop as low as 65 percent of ca-pacity because of the labor prob-lem and a slowing demand for steel, said Weir.

The Weirton Steel Co., a sub-sidiary of National Steel, is not involved in the current dispute. Workers at the West Virginia plant are represented by an in-dependent union having no con-nection with the C.I.O.-United Steel Workers.

Says Steel Making Recovered Quickly

CLEVELAND, July 18—(AP)—Operations in the steel-making industry recovered quickly last week from the holiday week slump, Steel magazine reported today.

Despite a case of "jitters" by steel markets because of the steel strike threat, the magazine said, the national ingot rate was fig-ured at 77 per cent of capacity last week. This represented a 17-point gain over the previous week and a drop of only three points from the rate in effect just be-fore the holiday.

Steel, expanding on the pos-sible effect on the industry if the strike took place, reasoned the jolt would be less severe than in the 1946 walkout.

"Then," it said, "steel shortages prevailed on every side and con-sumers' inventories were virtual-ly nonexistent."

But this time, Steel asserted, inventories would have been high enough to bridge the gap in mill shipments "for some time in view of the slower pace of manu-facturing capacity."

In spite of all this, the maga-zine said, "a degree of uncertain-ty almost without precedent" was felt by the trade over the strike threat.

Steel users, it added, tried all week long to speed up mill de-liveries to build up their inven-tories.
